

How do you differentiate an oxidation and reduction electrochemical reactions. With respect to corrosion, briefly mention where these reactions will occur?